smrter Hydra ELITE 6in1 Charging Cable – One for all!

The smartphone does have USB Type C, the tablet Lightning and the action cam does have Micro-USB port? Many know the therefore accompanying problem of finding the right charging cable for each different device - especially problematic now that many USB sockets are already being replaced by the new USB standard Type C.

For the whole family, for all devices

Together with the new ELITE cable we finally declare war on cable chaos. The 120cm long nylon charging cable has the perfect connection for every current smartphone or tablet, whether Micro-USB, USB C or Lightning. The charging current of up to 3A (when charging multiple devices at the same time, otherwise up to 1.5A individually) ensures a fast charging process and even allows the simultaneous charging of four different devices. An ideal charging cable for the whole family! It is available in L variants with two ports compatible with Lightning as well as C with two USB-C ports.

Especially convenient - the USB/USB-C combo port.

Whether it's a car, desktop PC, MacBook, powerbank or laptop - many new devices already no longer have classic USB sockets, but have been upgraded to the new USB C sockets. To be perfectly equipped for all types of connections now and in the future, the Hydra ELITE has a special USB/USB-C combo port. The conventional USB adapter can simply be pulled off so that the USB-C port behind it can be used.

Ultra-strong thanks to aluminum and nylon

The braided nylon jacket gives the cable the necessary stability and prevents unintentional tangling and knotting of the cable. The additional anti-kink reinforcement of the adapters makes the cable ideal for long-term use, whether at home or on the road. With the attached Velcro cable closure, the cable can be stowed away again in no time and without any tangled cables.

OTG sharing function

But that's not all. The charging cable also supports USB On-The-Go (OTG). This allows you to charge any USB device by simply plugging the cable into an OTG compatible smartphone, without any other power source. Ideal for transferring power from one smartphone to another to help out friends and family with a dead battery.
